

'ANDY' JACKSON PASSES AWAY RICH IN YEARS

Highly Respected Dover Veteran Mourned by Many People

CHAUNCEY, O., Nov. 26.—Andrew Jackson, of near Chauncey, aged 78 years, a civil war veteran, widely known and popular in this district where he has been a continuous resident during his life, passed quietly away Friday evening at his home on Sand Ridge. Heart failure was believed to be the cause of the aged man's sudden death as he appeared to be in good health during the day. He was sitting in his chair when he passed away. The family was in another room.

The aged man, who was wounded in the service losing his leg when a piece of shell struck him as he lay on the breastworks with the union army before Fort Wagner, Morris Island, South Carolina, was well known in Athens as it became characteristic of him to drive to town almost daily in a buggy for many years.

Endowed with a pleasant personality, Mr. Jackson made friends everywhere. Then during his war service he gained the high respect and esteem of his comrades by his optimism and courage.

Mr. Jackson spent the early part of his life with A. B. White at Sand Ridge, Chauncey. He was a boy with a lively, interesting disposition and he became known and liked by many youths in this section.

At the age of 18 Mr. Jackson with a contingent from Chauncey, enlisted in the 75th regiment O. V. I. This was on December 6, 1861. For nearly two years Mr. Jackson took part in many active campaigns of the war, being in fifteen well known engagements including the fierce battles of Gettysburg, Chancellorsville and Bull Run and passing thru all without having received a scratch. In the sixteenth engagement when the union army was preparing to take Fort Wagner at Morris Island, South Carolina, Private Jackson received the wounds that crippled him. He was lying on the breastworks near W. D. Southerton who now resides on Carpenter street, when a shell burst over his head, a piece of the iron tearing a ragged gash in his leg. Dr. Charles Wilson of Athens who was in the same company, Co. D, amputated the leg. Mr. Southerton this morning in the Messenger gave a graphic description of the scene. Private Jackson was sent to the Central Park hospital at New York City and after recovering from the effects of his injuries was mustered out January 20, 1865.

Returning home Mr. Jackson married Miss Margaret Borden, whom he had known during his youth and who had resided at Chauncey. He bought his first piece of property near the White farm which had been his home during his early youth. Later he bought and sold adjoining property and made a very good living from the transactions. He was very industrious. It is told of him that he assisted in clearing off his farm and though crippled would sit in front of a tree and chop it down from that position.

Mr. Jackson is survived by his wife and six children, three sons and three daughters.

Funeral services for Andrew Jackson will be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock at the Chauncey M. E. church.

J. L. Norris, a Civil war veteran, is seriously ill at the home of his son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Norris in Urbancrest. Mr. Norris has been a resident of this city for a number of years, coming here from Mountville.

The Glouster III football team has no more standing with the weather man than a rabbit. On Thanksgiving morning the boys were booked for a game with Chauncey III and the football grounds were covered with water when time for the game rolled around. For this afternoon a game was booked with the alumni, and this morning it looks out of the question to even consider a football game. This has all happened, too, just as the boys reached their stride after losing a number of contests.

Chester Davis returned to Columbus yesterday after spending Thanksgiving with home folks in this city. Mrs. Davis who accompanied him to this city remained for a longer visit.

None of the Ohio Collieries mines in this valley were up for work yesterday and it was the same old story this morning. The bottom seems to have fallen out of the coal market in this locality. Hysylvania mine was working every day a few weeks ago, but now this mine has dropped down to about one day a week.

Miss Glenna Penrod, formerly of Trimble, one of the teachers in the Zanesville schools, is spending the week end with friends in Athens.

Miss Sara Sutt is in Shawnee the guest of her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bates.

Mrs. Margaret Welch is spending a few days this week with friends in Wellston.

Misses Jane and Nettie McCann have returned to their home in Zanesville after being the Thanksgiving guests of their aunt Mrs. Hannah Allen.

Mrs. Porter Dugan is the guest of friends in Columbus.

Miss Ruth Sellars of Columbus, is spending a few days with her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sellars near Palos.

Genius is bound to be recognized; if you are not recognized you surely are not a genius.

COUNTRY CLUB ALL READY FOR SPRING'S CALL

Club House and the New Course Shaping Up Nicely

At a recent meeting of the directors of the Athens country Club standing committees were filled as follows:

Greens and Grounds, J. Halliday Cliffe, chairman, John Swanson and Geo. E. Whipple.

Membership, A. B. Wells, chairman, S. M. Johnson, N. J. Wolfe, Oscar Fulton, J. J. Schmidt.

House, A. C. Russel, Chairman, O. E. Whaley and Franz L. Woodworth.

The club house is enclosed and the first coat of plaster is on. The heating furnace has been installed and outside painting has had its second coat. All cement work has been done several weeks ago.

Everything is rounding into shape for completion early in the new year.

With the house enclosed and the furnace in, the inside finishing may go ahead irrespective of what the weather may be.

Contractor Kirekor is being congratulated on every hand for the expeditious manner in which this work has gone forward and his foreman, James Dyar, has demonstrated his ability to get things done in old time fashion.

A sewage disposal septic tank is being installed this week and all rough plumbing has long since been completed.

Arrangements have been completed to connect in the early spring with the Ohio Fuel & Supply Company's main gas supply line which runs less than a mile southwest of the club, thus gas will be available for cooking and heating water for showers, etc.

In all probability the club will install its own lighting system for lighting the building.
